

Neckcloths

Respirex offer a neck cloth that can be fitted to most makes of safety helmet designed for use where operators are dressed in either one-piece suits or jackets.

Neck Cloths are of particular use in refineries with overhead pipework where protection from overhead splashes is essential.

The wrap-around neck cloth offers greater face protection to the user where high winds can cause driving spray.

Neck cloths are available in a wide range of fabrics compatible with other garments in the chemical workwear range.

